We must beg our correspondents to be patient with us. We have several items of interest that we would like to publish this week but our space will not permit it. We will enter them in the order they come.

WANTED.—Tenants for several small farms in W. Va., near a great coal field which affords good markets. Will lease for 8 or 10 years. Also want an experienced man with $2000.00 to join me in the sheep business on shares in W. Va. Best of reference given and required. O. D. HILL, Kendalia, W. Va.

Daughters of the Confederacy.

At the opera house Thursday, January 19, at 11 a. m. the Margaret Davis Hayes chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, will bestow crosses of honor upon Confederate veterans, who have already filed, in due and legal form, their application papers with the chapter. At the conclusion of the exercise, a luncheon, complimentary to the veterans, will be served.

The Daughters cordially invite the public to be present. The luncheon will be free to all veterans, but outsiders will be charged 25 cents per plate, the proceeds accruing to be used as a benefit and for aiding sick, helpless and infirm slaves in Hendersonville. MAE LUCILE SMITH, Recording Secretary.

ETOWAH DOTS.

Editor Hustler:—Please allow space in your column for a few lines from this vicinity.

We are having some very bad weather, the roads are getting almost to rough to travel.

"Doc" Newman made a flying trip to Asheville to see Santa Claus and reports a very nice time.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Gash visited J. L. Gash this week.

Mr. Rufus McClellan is very sick at this writing, with La Grippe.

Mrs. W. H. Jones is visiting the home of J. L. Thomas and is reported to be very sick.

Everett Thomas, who has been off so long taking Xmas has returned.

Any one concerned to know of the child's whereabouts just call on T. R. D. and find out.

Haeone Gray and Flora Kilpatrick of Little Willow section were united in the holy bonds of wedlock Xmas day.

"Doc" Newman and Little Lee Gash called at Cloho a few Sundays ago. They seem to be quite popular at the upper and lower station. "Doc" is certainly a splendid fellow if he does change often as the moon.

Miss Bell Shipman of Blantyre visited Miss Lovela Thomas Sunday.

"Look out W. W. A." Mr. Watter Halselaw and Miss Pearl Ledbetter were married Sunday.

I wonder what has become of little Siler Gash I never see him here of late it must be true about him turning to a pickle bush.

Helol! Max. You do extra for a little fellow, you must write some more next week.

Mr. Charlie Thomas made a flying trip to Hendersonville and back this week.

Mr. Thomas Anders who has been in Fla. for a while has returned. He seemed to be well pleased with the place and people. Your same old Auntie.

Mrs. Rachael M. Miller.

Some emphatic tribute is due the memory of Mrs. Rachael Miller, who died at her home, at Rugby, on the 3rd of January, 1905. This sad providence leaves as survivors of the deceased, her husband, Capt. W. D. Miller, and of their children Mrs. Harriet K. Speigle, Mrs. Josephine Pender, Mrs. Louise Hart, Mrs. Cornelia Lyman Nichols, and Messrs William L. Flos, B., and J. D. Miller. The majority of these were present at the funeral which was conducted from the late residence by Rev. R. N. Wilcox on the 5th inst.

Rachael M. Lane was the daughter of Capt. H. E. and Rebecca Lane, and was born January 20th, 1830, and married to Capt. Miller, March 18th, 1856. This birth and marriage both occurred at the magnificent farm and residence now known as the Courtland place, Henderson county, N. C., for which place of her childhood and girlhood she ever maintained the strongest sentiment and attachment, out of respect for which fact kind and loving hands had her grave bordered with evergreens grown there.

What is remarkable, is the living together in unbroken affection, through varied and trying experiences of Capt. and Mrs. Miller for fifty years, lacking one year, being to each the only marriage. Mrs. Miller was a woman of much force of character; and her intelligence and training held her in good stead during all her life. She had the rare gift of uniting admiring friends and was one of the most graceful women of her day.

In early life, in the innocence of young womanhood, she attached herself to the Episcopal church, being confirmed by the late lamented Bishop Atkinson in 1860, and lived in that communion till her death; the Rev. Mr. Wilcox testifying her faithfulness at her funeral, supported by hundreds who knew her as well in life. She had knowledge and faith combined and discoursed upon the great question of salvation with surprising power; and within the last few years it was the pleasure of this writer to convince himself of the true faith of her real life—the faith that saves. And it is a joyous privilege to declare this hope with the especial incident that this subject has been known by him from the happy school days of their youth.

The old homestead at Rugby shows now the sad marks of the reign of death. It has entered the circle there, and invaded that home.

"There is no flock, however watched and tended,
But one dead lamb is there!
There is no fireside howsoever defended,
But hath one vacant chair."

It is a vacancy more impressive by the long life, only now ended. The casket was let down near the resting places of her father and other relatives at the family burying ground. And now it is all over. The grief-stricken husband and mourning children returned to their home with aching void at the heart, and there take note of an empty seat at the table, and in doleful notes repeat:

"Oh for the touch of a vanished hand,
And the sound of a voice that is still."

One other encouraging fact: The deceased in her last hours besought the Holy Communion. The minister coming accordingly, administered this rite and baptized her little grand child. This was dying in the faith, having received the promises. Her body in the grave and her spirit in Paradise, will soon be reunited, her redemption completed, and her reward received according to her works.

Through this ordeal we must all pass. And may we have part in the first resurrection. God deliver us from the second death and perpetual sleep. Amen!

BENT HER DOUBLE.

"I knew no one, for four weeks, when I was sick with typhoid and kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Annie Hunter, of Pittsburg Pa., "and when I got better, although I had one of the best doctors I could get. I was bent double, and had to rest my hands on my knees when I walked. From this terrible affliction I was rescued by Electric Bitters, which restored my health and strength, and now I can walk straight as ever. They are simply wonderful." Guaranteed to cure stomach, liver and kidney disorders; at the Justus drug store; price 50c.

STREETS AS PUBLIC ROADS.

An Interesting Provision of New Road Law to Citizens of Hendersonville.

Under the proposed new road law for this County the following streets in the town of Hendersonville are declared to be public roads within the provisions of said law, to wit:

- (1) Broad street, west of Main street.
 - (2) Anderson avenue, from the Southern Railway track east along county road to incorporation line.
 - (3) South Main street, from Transylvania Railway track south, along county road to incorporation line.
 - (4) North Main street, from fork of road, near residence of Joseph Noterman, along both Haywood and Buncombe County roads to incorporation line.
 - (5) Street leading past Ficker's blacksmith shop across cause-way on Spartanburg road, and running through land of Theodore G. Barker, to incorporation line.
 - (6) The Willow and Crab Creek roads from residence of S. V. Pickens on Main street to incorporation line and along each after same divide.
 - (7) Park Avenue, from Main street to incorporation line.
- The act makes it the duty of the road overseers to assist in working said streets as public roads and maintaining all bridges situate thereon, when called upon by the municipal authorities to do so.

FORCED TO STARVE.

R. F. Leek, of Concord, Ky. says: "For 20 years I suffered agonies, with a sore on my upper lip, so painful, sometimes, that I could not eat. After vainly trying everything else, I cured it with Bucklen's Arnica Salve." It's great for burns cuts and wounds. At the Justus drug store; only 25c.

The Washington Times seriously inquires, "will the new public buildings reflect true American art?" Until some one discovers true American art the question will remain unanswered. In the meantime we still have Ancient Greece, Rome and Scandinavia to draw from.

TO OUR FRIENDS AND PATRONS

We find in order to continue the credit business we will have to employ a book keeper, and the question is, will it pay? We think not. So have decided that on and after January 1, 1905, we will do A STRICTLY CASH BUSINESS believing that in the end it will be for our mutual benefit.

Respectfully,
F. Z. MORRIS & CO.
